

Logan Yoachum
Barnyard bidders

My name is Logan Yoachum, I am thirteen years old, and I have been a proud member of Green Acres 4-H for three years. Some of the specific projects I am a part of in 4-H include poultry, gardening, foods and hug-a-pet. I am in eighth grade and go to Natomas Charter School. Some of my hobbies outside of school and 4-H include swimming, reading and singing.

This is my second year selling a turkey at the Sacramento County Fair through the 4-H poultry project. I am selling a broad breasted white turkey which is a turkey that was bred specifically for the market. I am hoping to have my turkey reach 30 pounds by the time I sell it. I feed my turkey a starter which is a higher protein feed and then will advance to a finisher which has lower protein and higher carbs. I work with my turkeys by practicing walking them with a stick, stand still and holding it how I would at market once it's big enough

The main reason I am participating in Sacramento Barnyard Bidders is to raise money toward my funds for college. You can help support me by bidding at the county fair for my market turkey or sign up to be a bidder at the Sacramento County Fair website (<https://www.sacfair.com/>). You could also support me by making a donation to SBB under my name. Barnyard Bidders is a non profit organization that helps make sure youth investors get money for their market animals. Lastly you can make an in person add-on at the county fair during the sale of my turkey. The county fair is the May 23rd-27th

If you have any questions you can reach me through my mom (Brandy Yoachum) at duckie237@yahoo.com.

Thank you, and I hope to see you at fair!

Sincerely Logan Yoachum
